The NAD | Mission & Vision

human and linguistic rights language, culture, heritage
life, liberty, equality

Mission
The mission of the National Association of the Deaf is to preserve, protect and promote the civil, human and linguistic rights of deaf and hard of hearing people in the United States of America.

Vision
The vision of the NAD is that the language, culture, and heritage of deaf and hard of hearing Americans will be acknowledged and respected in the pursuit of life, liberty, and equality.

Artwork by Betty G. Miller, Ameslan Flag.
Founded in 1880, the NAD is the oldest civil rights organization in this country and works on behalf of 48 million deaf and hard of hearing individuals as well as their family, friends, and many others.

The advocacy scope of the NAD is broad, covering a lifetime and impacting future generations in the areas of early intervention, education, employment, health care, technology, telecommunications, youth leadership, and more—improving the lives of millions of deaf and hard of hearing Americans. As a national federation of state associations, individual members, and organizational and corporate affiliates, the NAD also carries out its federal advocacy work through coalition efforts with specialized national deaf and hard of hearing organizations, as well as coalitions representing national cross-disability organizations.

Shaped by a group of leaders who were concerned that deaf people were not included in the decision and policy-making processes affecting their lives—the NAD was founded by those who believed in the right of the American deaf and hard of hearing community to use sign language, to congregate on issues important to them, and to have its interests represented at the national level. These beliefs remain true to this day, with American Sign Language as a core value.

The NAD is a private, non-profit organization, supported by a dedicated membership and by others interested in the goals of the NAD. Membership includes: deaf, hard of hearing, and hearing adults and children; parents of deaf and hard of hearing children; organizations of, by, and for deaf and hard of hearing people; professionals and students in the field of deafness, interpreting, and other related areas; and other allies. Board representatives are elected during biennial national conferences, which also provide a forum where members and representatives can shape the future and priorities of the NAD.

Membership fees and donations make it possible for the NAD to continue its educational and advocacy efforts on behalf of deaf and hard of hearing Americans to preserve and expand deaf awareness, deaf culture, and deaf heritage; advocate for the civil rights of deaf and hard of hearing Americans; develop future deaf and hard of hearing leaders through its youth programs; work toward equality; and strengthen its representation base and influence on public policy, legislative, and advocacy issues.
These priorities were approved by the Delegates during the NAD Conference in Louisville, Kentucky in 2012. All priorities were completed by May 2014.

1 Employment Task Force
NAD shall, through coordination or partnership with other organizations, take the lead in establishing an employment task force for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing individuals in the United States, including a National Employment Resource Center for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing.

2 Leadership Training Program
NAD shall work with Bummy Leadership Institute (BLI) and California State University, Northridge to resume leadership training following the model of National Leadership Training Program at CSUN and College of Professional Studies and Outreach (CPSO) at Gallaudet University.

3 Mental Health Services
NAD shall research and develop a tool kit for State Associations, affiliates, and allies as well as place a call to action for full-time Mental Health Services Coordinators for the Deaf/Hard of hearing in each state.

4 Legislative Training
NAD shall make it a priority to institute a training program in the legislative process, legislative priorities and legislative relationship building for state associations and members.

5 State Association Coordinator
NAD shall restore the State Association Coordinator position at the Headquarters at any cost.
These mandates were also approved by the Delegates during the NAD Conference in Louisville, Kentucky in 2012. All mandates were completed by May 2014.

1. Mandate 1
   Educate Housing Urban Development (HUD) on Cultural Acceptable Housing – ASL Inclusive

2. Mandate 2
   Informed Decision-making and Language Deprivation

3. Mandate 3
   Accountability Task Force
It's no secret; you are a critical component to the success of the NAD. It is only with your help that we have accomplished so much during 2013-2014.

You helped us prevail against a federal agency to ensure deaf employees have access to fully functional videophones and advocate with the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) to promote a robust telecommunications system for all of us!

You helped us advocate at the U.S. Department of Transportation (DOT) to break down rules that prevent deaf people from driving trucks, and support our ongoing efforts to ensure the removal of all barriers for deaf people to get Commercial Driver's Licenses (CDLs)!

You helped us continue our efforts for full captioning access everywhere such as on television and the Internet (including video clips), and at sports stadiums!

You helped us advocate for changes in Federal law to strengthen the right of every deaf and hard of hearing child to receive a quality education with every resource available to them including American Sign Language!

You helped us represent and gain access for deaf and hard of hearing people in numerous legal cases seeking equal access to services in courthouses, online courses, hospitals, and prisons; and provided critical information and assistance each month to hundreds of deaf and hard of hearing consumers, parents and family members, teachers, interpreters, reporters and many others!

Your continued support will help us achieve true equality.

We will get there.

Chris Wagner, NAD President

The NAD Law and Advocacy Center receives and responds to e-mails, phone calls, and in-person requests. The requests for this center are usually for information and referral, advocacy support, legal guidance, and resources. The center works daily on federal legislative and public policy issues of importance to the American deaf community, and frequently collaborates with other national organizations representing deaf and hard of hearing persons and individuals with disabilities. The center represents clients who are deaf or hard of hearing in carefully selected disability discrimination cases with potential to set national precedent, and each selected litigation can take years to resolve. The center also provides assistance and guidance to lawyers across the nation representing deaf or hard of hearing clients.

Regulations

CC Quality: The FCC moved to create new standards for closed captioning quality including accuracy, timeliness, completeness, and on-screen placement of closed captioning. (Feb 2014)

Text-to-911: The FCC formally encouraged all wireless providers to support text-to-911 by December 31, 2014. (Jan 2014)(In August 2014 the FCC made support mandatory)

CC User Interface: The FCC required video playback and navigation devices to make their captioning user interface easily accessible. (Oct 2013)

503 Regs: The Department of Labor published new regulations to improve job opportunities for people with disabilities with federal contractors and subcontractors (Sept 2013)

VRS Reform: The FCC moved to implement reforms to VRS including the creation of a reference platform as well as neutral platform. (June 2013)

Advanced Communications Services: The FCC released rules requiring advanced communications services to be accessible to people with disabilities. (April 2013)

Policy Work

In addition to working on the regulations above...

TRS: The NAD is always working on telecommunications relay service issues before the FCC and advocating for functional equivalency in all relay calls.

CC: The NAD is also always working on improving access to closed captioning on television and online streaming. This includes countless meetings with the FCC and filings on matters ranging from how to support IP closed captioning on various equipment to opposing television captioning waiver requests. Video Clips: The NAD has been working to reverse the FCC’s decision to exempt video clips from IP Closed Captioning rules. (Successfully reversed in July 2014)

Open Internet: The NAD has been involved with the Open Internet (net-neutrality) proceeding and promoting accessibility under whatever framework is adopted.

TDM to IP Transition: The NAD has been working to ensure that no deaf or hard of hearing people are left behind in the proposed telephone system transition from copper to fiber.

EAS: The NAD has been pushing for full access to all Emergency Alert System alerts on television. VRS Lawsuit: The NAD filed an amicus curiae in Sorenson v. the FCC explaining the importance of functional equivalency in VRS and expressing concern about the impact of rate cuts on functional equivalency. (Nov 2013)
504 Compliance: The NAD filed comments with the FCC as well as Social Security Administration on their Section 504 compliance efforts. (Dec 2013)

Fair Housing: The NAD has been working with different entities to reduce and eliminate discrimination against deaf and hard of hearing people in housing. The NAD has been advocating to ensure that the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) recognizes and sanctions housing for the deaf such as Apache ASL Trails in Arizona. In addition, we had a press conference in January 2014 with the National Fair Housing Alliance announcing several complaints against several apartment owners and managers nationwide.

Transportation: The NAD continues advocating for Commercial Drivers Licenses for deaf and hard of hearing truck drivers, access to in-flight entertainment on commercial airplanes, access to public announcements in rail vehicles, and more.

The NAD is engaged in an extensive program to develop education advocates throughout the country with a goal to have at least one trained education advocate in each state. Through this program, the NAD coordinated 6 in-person training sessions and 5 online seminars for individuals seeking to become such education advocates.

The NAD provided community education presentations in 7 different states that reached 200 people.

The NAD hosted several educational presentations and meetings with 10 legislators and their staff.

The NAD engaged in 12 coalition-building meetings regarding advocacy for language development, education access and rights of deaf and hard of hearing children.

Because of these efforts by the NAD, 40 states now have education advocates, as well as 3 national organizations and 7 parent advocates.

This program is supported by the Education Strategy Team, which has 15 members from 12 different education-related organizations. The Education Strategy Team met 10 times in the past year.
Under a cooperative agreement with the U.S. Department of Education, the Described and Captioned Media Program (DCMP) screens, evaluates, captions, audio describes and distributes educational media. The NAD oversees this program, which is operated through a satellite office in Spartanburg, South Carolina, which manages the operations pursuant to this agreement.
The NAD publishes a magazine, The NADmag, two times a year for its members. The NADMag features timely articles on relevant topics of interest to membership and advertisements for products and services targeted to the needs of deaf and hard of hearing people as well as membership at large.

Additionally, the NAD sends out monthly eBlasts to subscribers that share the latest online posts since the previous eBlast.

The NAD also has a presence on Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, YouTube, Flickr, and LinkedIn. The NAD is thrilled to share that within the past year its Facebook page has grown to over 10,000 likes!
The NAD receives thousands of inquiries via phone, email, mail, fax, web, and social media. Inquiries include correspondence from classroom teachers, agencies and organizations, recreational program directors, legislators, parents of deaf and hard of hearing children, ministers, counselors, librarians, rescue squad workers, hospital staff, and many other service providers.

The NAD responds to a variety of requests, including: individuals wanting information on deafness-related career opportunities, inquiries for possible sources of financial support, notes from senior citizens who need help securing hearing aids or other assistive devices, requests from copies of legislation impacting on deaf and hard of hearing people, requests for materials on promoting deaf awareness, and much more. The NAD also responds to international requests for information, providing information, resources, and referrals.

3,195 calls ... from new individuals were made to Headquarters from April 1, 2013 to March 31, 2014.

1,816 emails ... from new individuals were sent to Headquarters for the same time period, and these emails were for the following departments or staff:
Community | Public Information Services (cont'd)

2,101 inquiries ... from individuals via the online webform on the Contact Us page.

680 social media postings
The work of the NAD Headquarters is greatly enhanced by the hard work and dedication of volunteers. Volunteers assist with responding to requests for information, clerical work, assisting with membership records, data entry, visual graphics, and other areas.

The Nancy J. Bloch Leadership and Advocacy Scholarship had the privilege of having Hayley McLemore as a recipient in Summer 2013.
Youth Programs at the NAD include: 1) an annual Youth Leadership Camp; 2) a national network of affiliated Junior NAD chapters for high school students in residential and public school programs; 3) a biennial College Bowl competition in which college teams vie for the coveted National Championship Trophy; and 4) opportunities for young Americans to compete biennially for the NAD Youth Ambassador program.

"We started off as individuals. However, after a few days, we began to include everyone to ensure we promote fairness and inclusiveness despite our insecurities and shyness. This is what YLC is all about!"

—Renate Rose, 2013 YLC Leader
Youth Leadership Camp
The Youth Leadership Camp (YLC) is an annual four-week summer program designed to teach deaf and hard of hearing high school students to become productive and positive leaders. Campers are referred to during YLC as "leaders" and are guided and inspired by the dedicated staff members who are referred to as "builders." These builders are role models from all over the United States and even other countries. The camp fosters communication development, leadership skills, and self-confidence. YLC is designed to give the leaders tools necessary for them to achieve their goals. At the YLC in 2013, there were 63 leaders and 19 builders.

Junior NAD
The Junior NAD is an organization of, by, and for deaf and hard of hearing youth. Through meaningful group activities, the Jr. NAD program focuses on developing leadership and a sense of community among young deaf students in state associations, schools, and/or organizations of the deaf. Deaf and hard of hearing students can participate in the Jr. NAD program by joining a chapter set up by their school for the deaf or mainstream program. In 2013-2014, there were 26 Jr. NAD chapters. In November 2013, 145 deaf and hard of hearing students from many of these Jr. NAD chapters attended the 2013 National Conference in Washington, DC, hosted by the Model Secondary School for the Deaf.

College Bowl
The NAD College Bowl competition is a spirited academic competition held during NAD biennial national conferences that brings together contestants from the top universities serving deaf and hard of hearing students. Teams vie for the coveted silver trophy and scholarships. The next NAD College Bowl competition took place in July 2014 at the 2014 NAD Biennial Conference in Atlanta, Georgia.

Youth Ambassador Program
The NAD Youth Ambassador Program (YAP) is a competition for deaf and hard of hearing American youth in the age range of 18 to 30. These youth will compete against each other to determine who will be the next two NAD Youth Ambassadors, which will take place in July 2014 at the 2014 Biennial Conference in Atlanta, Georgia. The chosen two NAD Youth Ambassadors will work with the NAD to implement a strategic plan that addresses a social issue(s) within the Deaf community identified by the individuals during the competition. Moreover, the Ambassadors will represent the NAD at presentations, workshops, the Youth Leadership Camp (YLC), and other events within the deaf community.
On March 13, 2014, more than 200 people gathered at the historic Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel in Los Angeles, California to celebrate breakthroughs in the media on behalf of deaf and hard of hearing actors and artists and to recognize those who have paved the way for these actors and artists in Hollywood and the media.

The NAD convened this unprecedented Breakthrough Awards Gala to showcase the importance of these breakthroughs, which help increase awareness of the importance of authentic inclusion of the deaf and hard of hearing community. With this eye-opening event, the NAD seeks to translate the heightened awareness into increased opportunities for our community to gain prominent roles both in front of and behind the camera.

Attendees included major media companies, deaf and hard of hearing actors and artists, television and movie executives, directors, producers, writers, agents, and casting professionals.
The NAD Leadership Training Conference (NLTC) is designed to provide training to leaders of state associations and other affiliates on nonprofit organization governance, accounting and financial principles, social media techniques, fundraising tips, advocacy tools, increasing membership, and many other issues and areas that impact their association. The NLTC is also an opportunity for all these leaders to share knowledge and resources, and to prepare for the next NAD biennial conference. A mobile app was unveiled for NLTC 2013 and became a huge success!
The NAD biennial national conference brings together State Associations, affiliates, members, supporters, and friends in even-numbered years.
